February – Valentine's Day Warmth...

We certainly started the New Year off with a bang! Sherri Okinaga did an excellent presentation which she also customized for ABWA, too! It was awesome and she expressed a special energy that comes through from our group!

The many blessings must be helping us out - thank you Lena! So now that we have a better sense of meeting our new challenges - get ready to face it all - in the right attire! Jean Gerstenberger will be presenting us with "Dressing for Success" along with a mini fashion show with our participating member models! How cool is that? Be ready when you get the call to be a part of it all!

Time is quickly approaching for our March 12th garage sale—our biggest fundraiser planned for the year - get your closets cleared out. . .

Be sure to sign on to the recent survey on our next member ed event "Air Traffic Control Tower²"- wow, what an opportunity - thank you Chas and Dawn! Also, Progressive Dinner Plans are being set for March 19th - Chair Sharon Ito-Matsuo will be keeping us posted. . .

Keep Smiling!
Patti Ann Hokama
President

The mission of the American Business Women's Association is to bring together businesswomen of diverse occupations and to provide opportunities for them to help themselves and others grow personally and professionally through leadership, education, networking support, and national recognition.

Na Kilohana O' Wahine Vision 2010-2011

Na Kilohana O' Wahine believes in giving back as we develop and support our women both personally and professionally and relish in how it is paid forward!

*Meet our new 2010-2011 National President
Lynn Drowne*

*Notes from our new ABWA
National President*

Wow!!! What a fantastic conference!! I want to thank you for electing me as your 2010-2011 National President. I am so very honored to hold that title. Hope everyone that attended the National Women's Leadership Conference has had a chance to rest up a little and get back into their routines. There were so many members and teams recognized for achievements. And the energy level was definitely set on high—except for the 20 members that Wayne Lee kept putting to sleep!!

Congratulations to all of our Best Practices Chapters and Express Networks. It was really good to see new teams achieving this designation. Kudos go out to the national newsletter winners. From the newsletters that I have received and read, I don't envy the judges on the task that they have in deciding the best of the best. Congratulations, also to our 2011 Top Tens and to Carolyn Coleman Parks, our 2011 American Business Woman. And finally, congratulations to the ABWA-KU MBA Essentials graduates and to the many APEX Award winners. Can you say "NATIONAL RECOGNITION"?

This year a new tradition was started by the Board of Directors. A pinning ceremony where the newly elected officer is officially pinned by the immediate past officer was officially adopted by all. The pins that the officers wear are not just a piece of pearl and gold jewelry; the history that goes along with the pin is priceless. The memory of Past President Casey Coven pinning me, is a memory that I will hold dear for a long time.

As your National President, I look forward to the opportunities that are waiting for us this year. I take the role and responsibility very seriously. Together, your Board of Directors and the National Headquarters staff will work closely to keep our Association moving forward. With your help we can continue to reach new heights for our Association, for our current members and for those members to follow.

In ABWA love,
Lynn Drowne

FEBRUARY FASHIONS

Happy New Year!

Time to throw out the old (literally) and bring in the new! Join us at the ABWA February Meeting and meet Jean. In her own business, we can learn about direct sales business as well as learn about fashion!

Jean Gersternberger has been a fashion consultant for a LA based clothing company since 2006.

Aloha and Mahalo,
Karen Yonemoto
Program Co-Chair

Jean Gersternberger
presents
"Dressing for Success"

*Join us for a "diva" evening!
Some of our members will be vamping down the catwalk to model diva-ine new spring fashions provided by Jean.*

How fun is that!

2011 THE YEAR OF THE RABBIT

02/03/2011 - 01/22/2012 (Metal Rabbit)

Out like a Tiger, in like a Rabbit? Yes indeed, according to the 12-year cycle of the Chinese zodiac. The actual start date for the Year of the Rabbit is February 3, 2011 and it will end on January 22, 2012. The Rabbit is the fourth sign of the Chinese Zodiac, which consists of 12 animals signs. The Rabbit is a lucky sign. Rabbits are private individuals and a bit introverted. People born in the Year of the Rabbit (1927, 1939, 1951, 1963, 1975, 1987, 1999) are reasonably friendly individuals who enjoy the company of groups of good friends. They are good teachers, counselors and communicators, but also need their own space. According to tradition, the metal Rabbit may show his love in terms of how hard he can work for loved ones. In 2011 you might not express your feelings in words, but make up for it by your deeds.

According to Chinese tradition, the Rabbit brings a year in which you can catch your breath and calm your nerves. It is a time for negotiation. Don't try to force issues, because if you do you will ultimately fail. To gain the greatest benefits from this time, focus on home, family, security, diplomacy, and your relationships with women and children. 2011 will be a year of sensitivity, prudence and wealth earned through hard work. The year will be family oriented, devoted to duty and dependability. Make it a goal to create a safe, peaceful lifestyle, so you will be able to calmly deal with any problem that may arise.

The Boss

Be loyal to your boss. Speak well of your superior to others and support his or her initiatives. Your job is not only to advance your own career, but also to make your superior look good.

Seek out supervisors and mentors who are ethical, that you will be proud to support. Never do anything illegal or unethical for your superior, because you will be held accountable.

The Etiquette Tip of the Week may be forwarded to others who really, really need it, pinned to billboards, taped to the water cooler, logged, Twittered or used to fill that last little hole in your newsletter. Giving credit to the Culture and Manners Institute at <http://www.cultureandmanners.com/> is the polite thing to do.

Garage Sale Sellers' Blunders...by Nancy Twigg

 Not Pricing Items clearly

I don't know which is worse: not pricing items in a way that is easily understandable or not pricing items at all. Buyers shouldn't have to work at figuring out the prices.

 Accommodating Early Birds

Allowing early shoppers to get the bargains is unfair to the shoppers who respect your wishes. Politely but firmly tell early birds that the sale is not open for business yet.

 Trying to Sell Used Stuff at "New" Prices

If your stuff means that much to you, take it to a consignment store or sell it through a classified ad or on eBay. Yard sale shoppers are looking for bargains, not prices barely below what you'd find at a discount store.

 Being Careless with Yard Sale Preparations

There is nothing worse than hearing, "That's not for sale!" Remove things you do not want to sell from the sale area. If that isn't possible, cover them with an old sheet or dropcloth, or use masking tape to rope off areas that are not part of the sale.

 Not Taking Down Old Signs

After the yard sale is over, your yard sale signs are litter that should be disposed of just like any other garbage. It is extremely inconsiderate to both shoppers and neighbors who must look at your weather-beaten signs for months to come.
